This architectural drawing shows the facade of the Palazzo del Comune in Mantua. The ground floor features a series of large, arched windows. Above these, there is a row of smaller, arched windows. The upper levels are characterized by a series of rectangular windows and decorative elements. The drawing is a black and white line drawing, showing the structural details of the building's facade.

This architectural drawing shows a section of a building facade. It features a series of windows and architectural details, each labeled with a number from 1 to 15. The drawing is a technical sketch, likely for a design or construction document. The elements include various window types, such as rectangular windows with different frames and openings, and a small square window. The numbers are placed near the corresponding elements to identify them.

Rue Baron Lambert

Technical drawing of a building facade showing a vertical section with dimensions. The drawing includes a vertical wall on the left with a door and windows, and a horizontal wall on the right with a window. Dimensions are given in meters (m) and centimeters (cm).
